Afro-Caribbean Millennium Centre

Description:

Allsebrook & Hadley provided quantity surveying services for the construction of a new Multimedia training and community centre for the Afro Caribbean community in Winson Green, Birmingham.

The initial £1.2m phase of the project consisted of the construction of the new centre, which provides training and community facilities, including a radio station, New Style Radio.

A Phase 2 extension of the project provided further broadcast and production facilities. The project was part funded by the Millennium Commission and the Arts Council, and both phases were constructed by Weaver plc of Bromsgrove, Worcestershire.
